

Glen Erle Moorehouse, 55, A Senior Official of C.I.A.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 24 (UPI) — Glen Erle Moorehouse of this city, a senior official of the General Intelligence Agency, died yesterday after an emergency operation in a hospital here. He was 55 years old.

Mr. Moorehouse, a graduate of the University of Chicago, was a military intelligence officer during World War II with American Army units and French Colonial divisions in the North African and Italian campaigns.

In 1947 he became special assistant to F. Averell Harriman, then head of the Economic Cooperation Administration in Paris. He joined the C.I.A. in 1953.

He leaves his wife, Lenore; a son, James A. of Paris; a daughter, Mrs. Fred Lekson of Alexandria; his mother, Mrs. James A. Moorehouse, and a sister, Drucella.